SGMC Names Clinical Vice Presidents

South Georgia Medical Center announces the promotion of Cherise Giddens, BSN, RN, and Tina Miller, MSN, RN, NE-BC, to Clinical Vice Presidents for the health system.

Giddens has been with SGMC's leadership team since 2012, serving as the Assistant Chief Nursing Officer for the past five years. In her position as Vice President of Clinical Nursing, Giddens will provide administrative oversight for multiple services to include Women and Children's, Medical/Surgical, Critical Care, and Nursing Clinical Resources.

Miller has served as the Administrative Director for the Emergency Department since 2018. In her new role as Vice President of Clinical Operations, she will provide administrative oversight for the entire continuum of emergency care services to include Emergency Departments across all campuses, Emergency Medical Services, Emergency Operations Management, Urgent Care, and Perioperative Services.

"SGMC's health system is growing very quickly and we are pleased to have Cherise and Tina in these leadership positions to help advance services and provide the very best patient experience across all areas," said SGMC Vice President, Chief Nursing Officer, and Chief Operations Officer Randy Smith.

SGMC's health system includes four hospital campuses located in Lowndes, Berrien, and Lanier counties. SGMC's Physician Network includes 11 primary care and 22 specialty care offices across South Georgia. For more information visit sgmc.org.
