Southeast Georgia Health System Volunteer Services Present Scholarships to Teen Volunteers

BRUNSWICK, Georgia: June 22, 2022 – Southeast Georgia Health System Volunteer Services recently presented $1,000 scholarship awards to three graduating high school seniors who served as volunteers for the Health System and plan to pursue degrees in the health care field.

The Brunswick Campus Volunteer Services scholarship recipients are Jocelyne Galdemez and Kailah Partridge. The Camden Campus Volunteer Services scholarship recipient is Tia Sullivan.

Graduate of Frederica Academy, Jocelyne Galdemez, plans to pursue a Bachelor of Science in Nursing at the College of Coastal Georgia with the goal of becoming a traveling nurse.

Kailah Partridge, a graduate of Glynn Academy, will attend the University of Georgia. She plans to major in pre-pharmaceutical science and later attend medical school to become a doctor specializing in fertility.

Tia Sullivan, a graduate of Camden County High School, aspires to be an orthopaedic physician assistant and will attend Kennesaw State University.

The Teen Volunteer program is designed for students, ages 16-18, who enjoy helping others and have a desire to learn more about health care and volunteerism. Graduating high school seniors who serve at least 20 hours through the Teen Volunteer program and plan to pursue careers in health care are encouraged to apply for the Volunteer Services scholarships offered at the Brunswick and Camden campuses.
