AdventHealth Medical Group Urology at Rome now open, expanding access to urology care in Northwest Georgia

AdventHealth Medical Group Urology at Rome is now open, expanding access to urology care for patients across Northwest Georgia and making it easier to schedule an appointment close to home.

The new practice is designed to help patients get answers, relief and timely care for common urologic concerns that can affect daily life, sleep and peace of mind.

AdventHealth Medical Group Urology at Rome serves patients experiencing symptoms such as kidney stone pain, blood in the urine, frequent urination, bladder leakage, recurrent urinary tract infections, prostate concerns and other men's and women's urologic health needs.

Care is focused on helping patients move from symptoms to solutions quickly. Depending on the situation, a referral may not be required, and appointment availability across the market makes it easier for patients to be seen without long delays.

AdventHealth Medical Group Urology at Rome offers advanced, compassionate care in a setting that is private, respectful and centered on the patient experience. The practice also supports patients who may benefit from more advanced treatment options, including robotic surgery capabilities when appropriate.

AdventHealth Medical Group Urology at Rome is located at 100 John Maddox Dr., Suite 100, Rome, GA 30165. To schedule an appointment or learn more, call 706-378-2790.

AdventHealth Medical Group Urology's launch in Rome reflects a commitment to making specialty care more accessible across the region, so patients can be seen quickly and move forward with confidence.
