Gallup named new Hamilton Medical Center vice president, chief operating officer

DALTON, Ga. (January 2, 2025) – Reyne’ Gallup was recently named vice president and chief operating officer for Hamilton Medical Center (HMC).

“We’re very happy that Reyne’ has joined us,” said Sandy McKenzie, CEO of HMC. “She brings a wealth of experience in innovation, collaboration and strategy that promotes patient-focused, high-quality care.”

Gallup has served in different leadership roles in her career. She also served as vice president of Clinical Operations, chief nursing officer and chief operating officer at University Hospital in Augusta, Ga. Other areas of responsibility included professional services and post-acute services, including long term care.

Gallup earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing at University of South Alabama and her Master of Science from Grand Canyon University. Gallup will have responsibility for the following areas: Pharmacy, Rehabilitation Services, Laboratory, Peoples Cancer Institute, Neurosciences, and post-acute services, including Hamilton Long Term Care, Hamilton Home Health, Hamilton Hospice, Royal Oaks, Whitfield Commons and Whitfield Place.
