Southeast Georgia Physician Associates-Primary Care Welcomes Internal Medicine Physician, Brandi Wynne, M.D.

BRUNSWICK, Georgia: April 26, 2021 – Southeast Georgia Health System is pleased to welcome board-certified internal medicine physician, Brandi M. Wynne, M.D., to Southeast Georgia Physician Associates-Primary Care.

From a young age, Wynne knew that she wanted to go into the medical field. “When I was fourteen, I enrolled in a health occupations class and discovered a passion for it,” Wynne says. “I fell in love with the idea of meeting new people and making a difference in their lives.”

After graduating from the University of Georgia with her bachelor’s degree in biochemistry, she worked for two years with George Walker, M.D., a nephrologist in private practice in Eastman, Georgia. Under his mentorship, she gained early exposure to treating kidney diseases before even attending medical school.

“Dr. Walker was a major influence in my chosen specialty. What began as a month-long shadowing program turned into a full-time position in his practice,” says Wynne. “With him, I gained invaluable hands-on experience in the medical field. I learned the roles of receptionist, phlebotomist and nurse, obtaining vitals from patients. It’s probably why I went into medical school already comfortable interacting with and listening to patients.”

Wynne earned her medical degree from Mercer University School of Medicine in Macon. She completed her internship and residency training in internal medicine at the University of Alabama in Birmingham. She also completed fellowship training in nephrology while at the University of Alabama. Prior to joining the Health System, Wynne treated patients at Taylor Regional Hospital in Hawkinsville and Meadows Regional Hospital in Vidalia.

Wynne sees adult patients for a variety of chronic diseases, with an emphasis on nephrology, diabetes, chronic kidney disease, hypertension, geriatrics, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, hypertension, hyperlipidemia, coronary artery disease and congestive heart failure. She describes her approach to practicing medicine as a patient-centered partnership.

“It’s important to me to get to know each patient on a personal level, to learn their family and personal history as well as their medical history, because everything ties into overall health and wellness,” says Wynne. “The relationship I have with patients is a partnership, so communication is key. I don’t want to dictate what they do; whatever treatment we try should be decided in a conversation.”

“Plus, I’m a people person,” Wynne adds. “I find great satisfaction in getting to know my patients, determining the cause of their ailment, developing a treatment to ease their suffering, and witnessing them improve over time. Nothing is better than seeing a patient on a return visit, healthier and happier than before.”

A Georgia native, Wynne and her husband, Robert Peacock, frequently vacationed on St. Simons Island before relocating permanently to the Golden Isles. They now live in Waverly and soak in the beauty of each sunrise over the marsh. Peacock owns Advanta Clean, a water and mold restoration franchise in Brunswick, and is looking forward to expanding his entrepreneur enterprise into a contracting company.

In her free time, Wynne enjoys the outdoors with her family, which includes her husband, their four-year-old son, Wynn Peacock, and her step-children, Kate Peacock, age 14, and Will Peacock, age 12. Lately, she’s been decorating their new home and listening to financial podcasts, because she’s “always interested in listening and learning something new.”

Wynne joins Southeast Georgia Physician Associates-Primary Care located in the Medical Plaza adjacent to the Health System’s Brunswick Campus. She is currently accepting new patients.
